

Tennessee Maneuvers

"Somewhere in Tennessee"

Jan. 28, 1944

Dear Bro. Clarence:

I am glad I figured out about that check before you sent it in; certainly saved embarrassment all around.

Enclosed is the ten to repay you for the amount you put up for me.

The address should tell you that we are at it again. Yes, maneuvers should be my middle name now. Here in Tennessee it is much better than that swamp hole of a Louisiana - things could be much worse.

The battalion commander just made me the adjutant last Monday. I really have a job on my hands now trying to learn the ropes. I like it though, and that is really what counts.

Fraternally but in haste
Charles Lindley
